TSG
STATUS
£64.99

The newest helmet here, the Status looks like a generic skate/dirt/BMX lid but is actually much more focused on urban riding. For a start, it has that LED rear light (useful but should be brighter) and both the straps and logos are reflective, which is a great idea. If that isn't enough visibility for you, then for £99.99 you can have one with a fully reflective shell. There are two shell sizes and each comes with two sets of pads which are large, thick and soft. Along with the low weight of 275g and the dial-adjusted retention device, this creates an extremely comfortable and stable fit. The venting is decent but not the best.
