

HT ANS-10 Supreme £79.99

These pedals from HT offer a broad enough platform (and with no inboard bearing bulge, your feet can stray onto the axle without impacting grip) to deliver plenty of stability on rougher trails. There are 10 threaded pins per side, which screw in through the underside of the platform. The pins on the leading and trailing edges, and the single pin in the centre, are 5mm high, and dig into the soles of your shoes well. HT have even included 1mm washers between the pins and the platform, which can be removed to extend the pins to a formidable 6mm. At the outer edge, three 4mm pins sit lower than the others, which helps explain why the HTs don't give the same surefooted feel as some here. Still, there's enough shaping to the platform that it cups your foot well enough, and the price and weight are competitive.
